Who can forget the time that the German and the Latin students sang Christmas carols on the steps in the main hall, the night the old high school burned, and the visits of the famed Marine Band and the New Christy Minstrels? The wild volleyball games and dancing at the fun nights will not easily pass into oblivion. The memory of the senior boys who cheered "bo-daciously" at the basketball games will be revived each year around tournament time. The dreamy music, soft lights, and the memory of the girls in long sweeping dresses will be cherished for years. Students will remember the important events of the year 1966, and above everything else they will remember the innumerable times that the gym echoed with the cry of "Hi-O-Silver, Away!"

You'll always have these . . .

. . . the regal look of the 1965 Homecoming King and Queen.

. . . the memorable Christmas Concert.

. . . door-to-door survey undertaken by the Social Studies department.

Times To Remember

. . . those overflowing bookshelves during lunch.

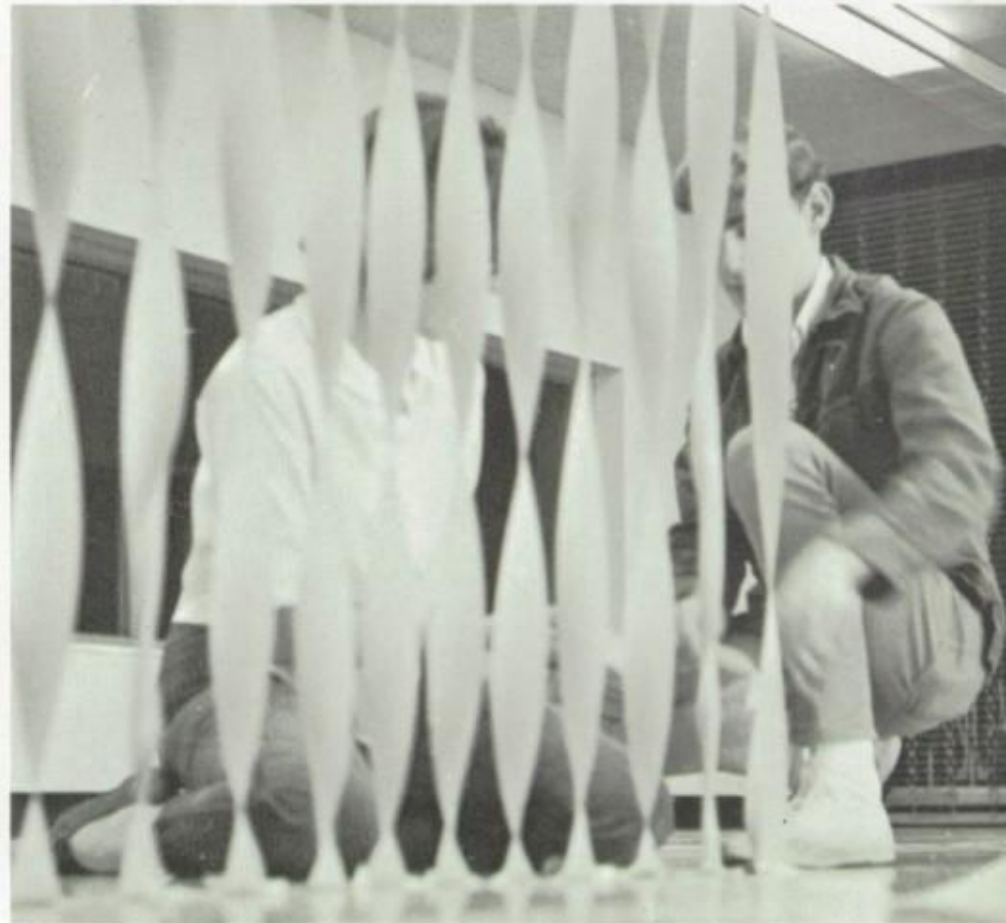

. . . the mad, frantic rush of lunch.

. . . "would you believe?"

Laughing, Crying . . .

Throughout a school year there are many times to remember. Students soon forget the everyday events such as the scramble for classes after the bell rings and the general exodus after school lets out, but there are many important events which will live in memory for many years to come. The time that the junior class float burned just before the Homecoming parade, the 'Proon' dances given by those uncoordinated senior girls, and the time that Dale Kelley scored 52 points against Rock Island will certainly be remembered as high points of the year. Who could ever forget being let out of class for the Christmas Tea or the many times coming home from out of town basketball games or a sleepy choir singing lullabys from Moline to Galesburg?

. . . decorating the cafeteria for dances.

... the tears shed for "Old Galesburg High" and Cheering . . .

... "first prize for resourcefulness, Homecoming float 'Cremate Canton,' Junior Class, October 1965."

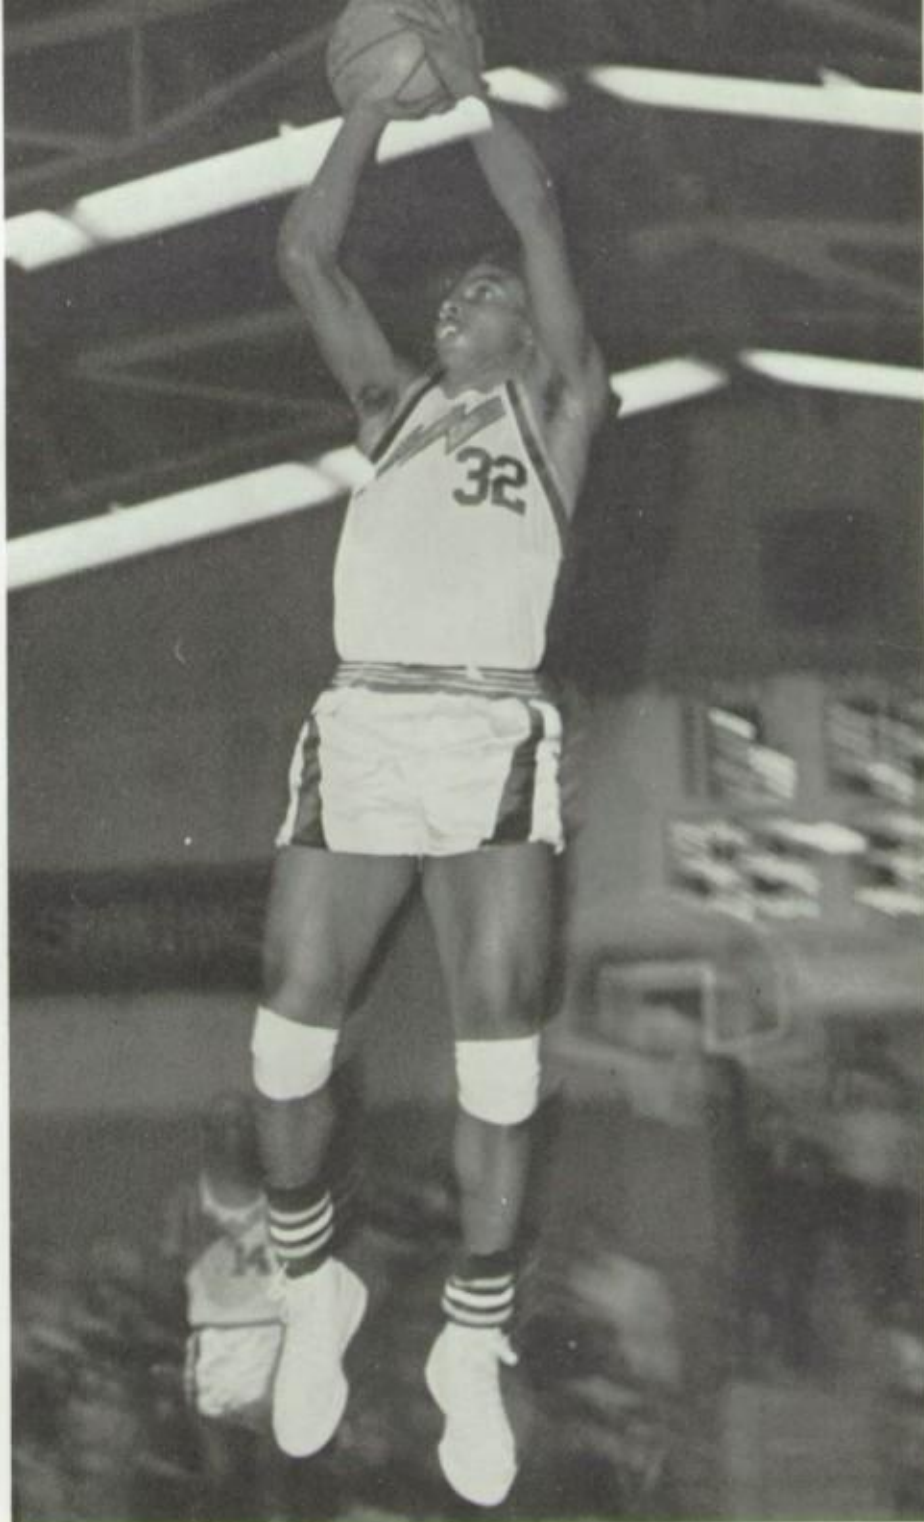

... those time consuming chemistry tests.

... the senior boys cheering "bodaciously" at tournament.

Slaving, Studying . . .

Remember the mad weeks in March when the school was possessed by tournament fever or the time that Galesburg finally got revenge over Pekin? Who can forget the clean up day at Lombard Field after the crepe paper from the Homecoming floats blew all over? It is impossible to forget the pep assemblies with their "original" skits put on by members of the student body. Also the inspiring sacred music of the Christmas Concert leaves a lasting impression. The year goes quickly and many things will be forgotten, but there are many times to remember.

. . . the crazy senior Proons in the Reflectavue.

and Playing . . .

. . . Senior Dale Kelley — "NOW
TAIK"

. . . cold nose, warm heart.

. . . the amazed look of study hall boredom.

. . . those darn research papers.

. . . our hole-y parking lot.

GHS drama department gives "Ah

Ah Wilderness was the name of the spring play put on by the Galesburg High School Drama Department. A humorous play by Eugene O'Neil, Ah Wilderness was well accepted by the students and the community. The story is based on a young man's rebellion against the propriety of his family and their life. He decides to get a taste of the seamier side of life before he makes his choice. Probably the most well remembered scene in the play is the one in which Tim Holst, portraying the son, returns home after a night on the town. He decides that the prim life is far better for him. Ah Wilderness was given in the high school auditorium in April of 1965. This enjoyably funny comedy provided a nice evening's entertainment for all who saw it. The entire cast, the stage crew and, of course, Mr. Kraus should be congratulated on a job well done. This play as have been many others was a grand success.

This year's Homecoming royalty was chosen from a group of well qualified nominees. The candidates for queen were: Martha Johnson, Debbie Hinkle, Polly Gamble, Susan Doores, and Sheryl Riggs. An all school election was held several days before the assembly at which Polly Gamble was announced as queen. Polly is a very active member of the GHS student body. Much of her time is occupied by Student Council, German Club, Girls' Octet, and as vice president of the Girls' Service League.

"Most of us will have mixed emotions about graduating from Galesburg High School. We are constantly told to live each day as it comes—not concerning ourselves too much with the past or with the future, but it is a good thing that it is not against the rules to save happy memories because I'm sure I could not help myself. I believe I said in the Homecoming assembly that I wished every girl could have the experience that I had. It must have sounded insincere, but it is exactly how I feel. It has been a wonderful three years and here's wishing for all of us a wonderful time ahead. Let's always give Galesburg good reason to be proud of us."

Polly Gamble

Larry Watters, the 1965 Homecoming king, was chosen from a group of nominees consisting of: Tom Johnson, Roger Yates, Larry Watters, Bob Jasperson and Jesse Ponce. Larry spends most of his time working on the Student Council of which he is president. Larry is also a member of several other organizations.

"The senior year of high school is probably the year most looked back upon by high school graduates. I certainly expect to prove to be no exception. Among the most memorable of my school experiences was serving as Homecoming king for 1965. It was an honor for which I can never fully express my gratitude."

Larry Watters

Fired up Homecoming sparks year

Homecoming was the spark that ignited the entire year. Preparations began weeks in advance with the meeting of committees to plan the dance and the highly secretive class floats. The voting for the royalty was done early in the week. The assembly on Friday afternoon marked the beginning of the festivities. Polly Gamble and Larry Watters, as this year's queen and king, together with the junior attendant, Dee Ann McQuillin, and the sophomore attendant, Lily Wong, reigned over the festivities. In the early evening, the floats were judged with the seniors taking first place in the contest and the sophomores taking second. Unfortunately, the junior float burned while being drawn from the building in which it was assembled. However, the ingenious members of that class donned black veils and mourned the "Cremation of the Giants." The pre-game activities, complete with bonfire and a snake dance helped the team rack up a victory. The climax of the weekend was the Homecoming Dance. The theme, Romanesque, was made effective by a bubbling fountain in the center of the gym floor. The whole weekend was a grand success from the first cheer at the opening assembly to the final dance that marked its close.

Mr. Spencer, do you really think it will be alright?

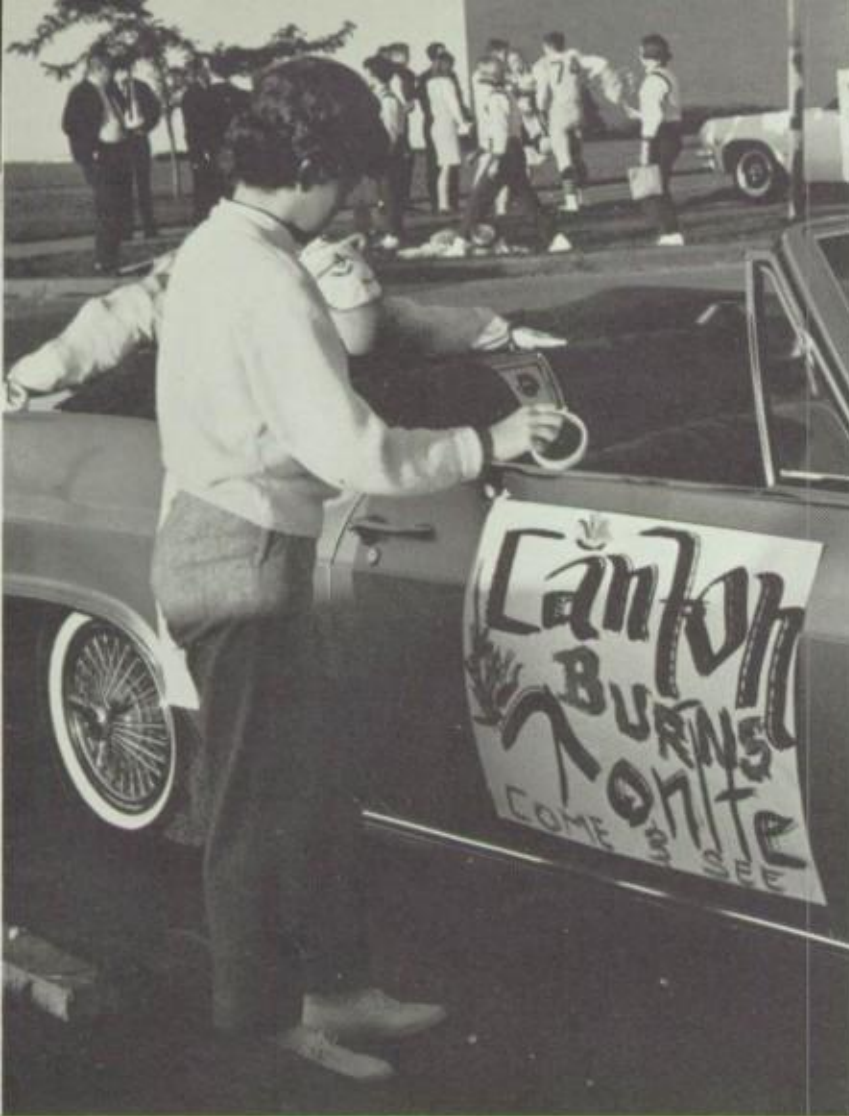

Mr. Van Dyke congratulates the royalty.

"My three Angels" is a hilarious success.

My Three Angels is one of the funniest plays that has ever been put on at Galesburg High School. The characters are not only hilarious, but also very warm and human. My Three Angels is the story of three convicts who, while working on the roof of a house overhear many of the problems of the family within, and decide to take them as their own. They descend from the roof into the house and into the hearts of the family and the audience. By the time the convicts leave, all is again well with the family. This year's fall play will be remembered as a well cast and a well acted play. Mr. Krause deserves a large portion of the credit for the success of My Three Angels. The cast, Mr. Krause, the stage crew and all who helped with this play deserve congratulations on a fine production.

These convicts show their rougher side. (T. Aldrich, J. Hurst, and J. Armstrong).

Oh yes, yes, let's have some of that! (M. Papke, C. Ericson, and R. Gifford).

Jim Armstrong, Tom Aldrich, and Tom Johnson haltingly leave through their private exit.

Long dresses grace Winter Formal

Even the cold, crisp weather contributed to the fantasy world that surrounded the Winter Formal. The girls in their flowing dresses complemented the pastel decorations which transformed the cafeteria into a world all its own. Don Clute and his orchestra provided music for dancing and the future Homemakers of America supplied the refreshments. The Winter Formal is planned and sponsored by the Galesburg High School Student Council. On Saturday morning the cafeteria was the scene of vigorous activity as Council members put up the decorations and made the last minute preparations for the dance. The Student Council deserves credit for the decorations and for everything about the dance that made it absolutely perfect.

GHS Reflectavue presents "Fanfares for '66"

Near capacity crowd attended this year's 1966 Reflectavue, "Fanfares for '66." This year a majority of the acts are of a humorous nature. A representation of each of the three classes and all of GHS's musical groups participated in the production. The three brightly costumed kick lines and the many original individual acts helped to make the Reflectavue a success. Also, Russ Gifford, master of ceremonies, added his own inimitable charm to the success of the production. The hilarious hula done by the Boys' Octet, and the "Medicare Maids" performed by the Girls' Octet, set the humorous pace for the following acts.

Senior kickline members are transformed from hoboes to Broadway dolls.

Dale Kelly, Penny Prance king

An annual event following the last home basketball game of the season is the GAA Penny Prance. All senior varsity "G" Club members are eligible for the title of king. Voting is done before and after school and during the lunch periods during the week that precedes the dance. At this time, large glass jugs, decorated to comically resemble each of the nominees, are placed in the main hall to receive the pennies which represent votes for each candidate. At this year's Penny Prance, basketball star Dale Kelley was crowned king. Few students who attended the dance will ever forget the happy grin on his face as the well deserved crown was placed on his head.

"They're so cute, I voted for them all!"

King, Dale Kelley, and Shirley Taylor grin happily following his coronation.

Streaks return home with three trophies

No Galesburg High School students will ever forget the thrill of this year's basketball tournament. To some students the highlight of the weekend was the breathtaking victory over Benton, to others it was the coronation of Queen Polly, and to still others it was the announcement of our championship cheerleaders. Perhaps the most moving spectacle of tournament was the tremendous reception that awaited the Streaks and their caravan as they arrived home number two in the state of Illinois, but number one in the hearts of all citizens of Galesburg.

As one of the best musicals ever given at GHS, Music Man will rate high on the list of times to remember. The leads, Polly Gamble and Roger Nelson seem to actually live their parts. The many backstage experiences will never be forgotten by any of the crew. One in particular happened to Janet Robinson when she had to make up Indian numbers from six to seventeen, because of a faulty firecracker. The many realistic sets were thought, by some members of the audience, to be professionally made. At both performances the cast was honored with a standing ovation, a great tribute for a fine performance. The lilting songs and gay costumes set the stage for two hours of rollicking good fun. Words seem trite in an explanation of this fantastic production, but Music Man was simply great!

Agriculture offers a variety of opportunities

On the count of three, you may begin.

Agriculture is one of the many courses at GHS which offer training in a future career. Students of this course work on individual projects related to this field. Part of the program for the year includes the judging of grains, soils, and also of stock. Agriculture students are given the practical experience that will one day be a great asset in farming or in any related agricultural job which they may choose. Agricultural economics and engineering will also give a broad and general background for further study. Students of agriculture are also given the opportunity to participate in field trips to farms where they may see the projects which they study put into practical use. There are innumerable job opportunities offered in the field of agriculture other than farming. Agriculture is perhaps one of the most beneficial courses offered to Galesburg High School boys. It is not necessary that a boy live on a farm before he is eligible to study agriculture.

Art students

donate time

The students of Galesburg High School owe a great deal to the art department. Mr. Crown and his classes willingly perform such services as making signs to advertise the games and the after game dances. The artists work hard to make scenery for the plays and musicals. In the course of the year the art students work on many projects. One of the enjoyable parts of study is the making of ceramics. Students are taught valuable tricks of keeping pieces of work smooth. They then glaze and bake each work to give it the desired color. In art class each student is encouraged to develop his own style and original compositions. Painting is an important part of any study of art. During the Christmas season the classes make beautiful and unusual decorations for the school and for their homes. Sketches are required each week from every student. They give the teacher an idea of the progress each student is making. Art gives students a chance for self expression and relaxation.

Business benefits students

Typing and shorthand are an important part of business education. These courses are assets no matter what career a student may choose to follow. For the college student, a knowledge of typing is imperative, while short hand is beneficial in note taking. The courses offered in this department are directed toward the teaching of secretarial and office skills. Students are educated in the efficient methods of bookkeeping and filing. Business mathematics teaches quicker and more accurate accounting systems to students interested in office work. As an additional benefit, some students attend school for part of the day and work in an office for the remainder. This experience will enable a student to secure a better job in the future. Also in the business education department there is a course involving office machinery. Business English is a detailed study of mechanics. In this course students are taught formal business composition.

Practice makes perfect?

From Shakespeare to debate

"To be or not to be . . ."

The English department of Galesburg Senior High School is one of the most advanced and diversified departments of its kind in the state of Illinois. Fifteen different courses in English are offered to the students. These courses advocate the study of numerous types of literature as well as opportunities for oral and written expression. In addition to the class work, the students are exposed to a variety of unusual activities. Along with the literature and grammar of the sophomore classes is a short study of journalism. Other classes tape, and even perform, on a stage, short plays and readings, some of which are of their own composition. As a semester course for seniors rhetoric is becoming increasingly popular among students. All students of English are urged to participate in the winter essay contests. These contests require essays on unusual and provocative topics. The junior classes are further encouraged to compete in the National Council of Teachers of English impromptu theme contest.

The home economics department teaches the girls to become future homemakers. Classes in foods and nutrition teach the girls to plan and prepare well balanced meals. Students learn to sew in clothing classes and also learn the styles most flattering for each type of figure and what materials are of the highest quality. Other courses offered are housing, family relationships, child development, management and interior decorating. Guest lecturers are invited to talk and to give demonstrations to the classes. Every year just before Christmas, the home economics department gives an open house for the entire community.

Bullseye!

The industrial arts department exists at GHS for the purpose of interpreting the industrial world to students in terms of his interests and abilities. Mechanical and architectural drafting include projects in the scale drawing of machine parts and the drawing and designing of model homes. In metals, boys are taught to work with sheet metal and welders. Some students are attempting to design and make decorative railings for porches. In this department students are taught the arts of carpentry and furniture design. Jobs in machine metals await students who are able to solve the problems of gear cutting and threading. In the spring of each year an Industrial Arts Fair is held to display the projects of the students.

Languages can be fun

Four years of Latin, two years of German and French, and four years of Spanish are offered in the language department of Galesburg High School. In the three modern languages, vocabulary and speech are emphasized. The grammar comes during the second year, but is hardly ever stressed. One day a week the students are given the opportunity to listen to tapes of each language, thus learning proper pronunciation. Part of learning a foreign language is the understanding of the land in which each language is spoken. Students are encouraged to become familiar with as much of the history and geography of the land as is possible. Latin has no laboratory study. Since Latin is not spoken, emphasis is placed on grammar and reading. Along with the study of Roman history goes a study of Roman mythology. This helps the students to appreciate the culture of this ancient civilization. Often students of these languages understand word roots and endings better than the average student.

The math department has some of the finest courses offered at Galesburg High School. First year algebra exposes the students to new types of mathematical terminology, simple graph, and the square root. The geometry course offers plain geometry and also a small amount of solid geometry is studied. If a student wishes to continue his education in math he may take second year algebra which deals with functions, graphs, exponents and logarithms. Students planning on college may wish to take the combined course of algebra and trigonometry in their junior year followed by analytic geometry and calculus. From this background students are better able to understand college math courses. Trigonometry and analytic geometry are also offered as separate courses. In several mathematics courses the work is made easier with the use of the slide rule. The students are taught what problems may be done with a slide rule and how to manipulate it. Mathematics classes, like other classes in the school, undertake special projects which are on display. Mathematics, unlike many other subjects, is an important part of everyday life.

The members of the World's Fair A Cappella Choir entertain for various organizations throughout the town. Concert Choir and Girls Glee Club dedicate themselves to the enjoyment of the student body. The Glee Club meets each day for the purpose of learning the understanding and appreciation of music. Another course offered in the music department is music theory. They become aware of the names of the famous composers and the style of each as well as the basic theory behind the different types of music. This department provides a service not only to the school, but also to the entire community.

Sports and physical fitness

The physical education department touches the lives of most of the students at Galesburg High School. A wide variety of physical activities are offered to the student body. In the fall of each year, both boys and girls are required to take physical fitness tests. Throughout the year the students are trained until, in the spring, the tests are repeated with hopes of improvement. Students participate in such sports as basketball, volleyball and soccer. The girls practice archery and badminton while the boys concentrate on track and wrestling. An important part of any physical education course is the weeks of classroom study. For sophomores this study is known as personal adjustment. This concerns methods for handling teenage social problems. For juniors this study is health and for seniors it is first aid. Both boys intramurals and the Girls Athletic Association are related extracurricular activities.

Frogmen or chemists?

Among the courses offered in the Science department of Galesburg Senior High School are biology, chemistry and physics. Sophomore biology is a comparatively general study of botany and zoology. During the course of the year, students dissect flowers, worms and frogs. The chemistry study course is divided into two parts. This program includes large lecture courses supplemented by small lab sessions twice a week. Physics, which is the detailed study of forces and energy consists of lab and lecture sessions. Another course offered only to seniors is advanced biology. The purpose of this course is to give a more detailed and comprehensive study of living things. The students are encouraged to attempt projects of special interest.

The social studies department of Galesburg High School offers students a wide variety of courses. With the exception of American history, which is a prerequisite for graduation, all are electives. Two electives offered to seniors are economics and government. The purpose of these subjects is to acquaint the student with the functions and economic system of the American government. World history, which covers all important events since the beginning of recorded history up until the present, is taken by many students during the sophomore or senior year. An integral part of the study of social studies is current events. In some American history classes each day is begun with a report on current happenings. These classes are divided into committees to study the major areas of the world. Learning from the past, teenagers can learn to correct these mistakes and form a better future.

Board administers to needs

The Board of Education is dedicated to providing the highest level of education possible to the students of school district 205. Headed by Mr. Robert McLaughlin, the board works to determine the educational needs of the students. The board is a policy making organization made up of seven unpaid public servants. The superintendent, Dr. Orval Trail, is employed by the board to administer these policies. Every decision made by this body is based on its effect on the students under their control. The Board selects the faculty members for district 205. The Board of Education deserves a great deal of admiration and respect for its dedication to the principles of this modern educational system and to the needs of the students, faculty and administration of district 205. Miss Lindberg, administrative assistant to the superintendent and recording secretary of the board, and Mr. Smith, the treasurer and accountant, are of great service to the Board of Education.

Behind the efficient mechanism of our school stand three administrators, highly respected by students and teachers alike. Completing his second year as principal of Galesburg High School, Mr. Betsworth is continuing to generously share his time and talents. The efficiency of the entire school rests squarely upon his shoulders. The dean of girls, Miss Ryin, is the Girls Service League advisor as well as a member of the American Field Service Committee. As GHS girls well know, she is an understanding friend to all who seek her help. Another indispensable member of the administration is the assistant principal, Mr. Franson. As Student Council sponsor and an AFS committee member he is a very busy and well liked man. Mr. Franson and Miss Ryin help to enroll students in courses for the coming year and also aid in career planning. These three people shoulder a great deal of the responsibility, but with all of the work to do they are always willing to help the members of the faculty and the student body.

Counselors give a helping hand

Mrs. Byram, Mr. Lundeen and Mr. Shover are three of the busiest people around GHS. Their duties are many and varied. Mrs. Byram and Mr. Shover keep records of students who are absent and personally call these students to check on their health. They help to enroll students for the coming year and also enroll students new to the school. These counselors are always willing to listen and to help solve the problems of the students. The guidance counselors are able to foresee the academic as well as social problems of the student body. Mrs. Byram and Mr. Shover jointly counsel underclassmen while Mr. Lundeen concentrates on the seniors. He keeps senior class records in his office so he may advise seniors as to their vocational abilities. He arranges conferences for students with the admissions offices of the colleges of their choice. Mr. Lundeen sponsors the annual College Night which is arranged to acquaint students with colleges in this area. Without these three busy and helpful people the school would not be able to run as efficiently as it does.

Mr. Lundeen stands guard.

Throughout the day, while students and teachers are busy with their studies, the office staff carries out the behind the scene duties so important to our daily life. Indirectly, each student has been affected by the helping hands of the staff. It is up to the office staff to handle the attendance counts, admit students late to school, give the announcements, make schedule changes, and to give out many bits of general information. The office staff members also take care of book distribution and of the lost and found department. These jobs are only a few of the tasks handled by the staff members and their helpers. The demands of the students are so frequent and numerous that they are kept continually on the move trying to fulfill requests. These women are perhaps the busiest people in the school. The entire student body owes a debt of thanks to these friendly and helpful members of the office staff.

The Student Council finally decided . . .

B. Hinrichs, J. Nyman, L. Watters, M. Hunter, C. Stone, T. Johnson, make up Student Council Board.

body of the school.

The Student Council of Galesburg Senior High School acts as a governing body for the entire school. The students present many of their problems to this body which discusses them and hands down decisions in the best interest of the students. It is a very hard working organization that receives little of the recognition it deserves. The members of the Student Council are elected by advisories with one representative from each. They meet in the auditorium for one hour each two weeks. However, special committees organize to solve or to investigate problems. The Student Council sponsors many activities for the benefit of the student body. They sponsor fun nights in which students come to the school in the evenings to dance, engage in sports or maybe just talk. These are a great service to the school. The Winter Formal, which is one of the highlights of the social year, is planned and given by the Student Council. This organization exists for the purpose of creating a better understanding between the students and teachers of the school.

Senior Council plans graduation.

The organization at Galesburg High School which is dedicated exclusively to the class of '66 is the Senior Council. Made up of a representative from each senior advisory, this group of students is headed by Tom Johnson and advised by Mr. Kuster. An organization of this sort is necessary to plan the many unusual activities of the third year students. Among the activities handled by the Senior Council are senior play day and baccalaureate services. The Council aids in the planning and actual giving of both. Another very important job of this organization is to aid in planning the prom. It takes a lot of hard work on the part of the many committees that help with these social events. They give the seniors a helping hand in choosing graduation announcements and are in charge of the graduation ceremony. The Senior Council acts as the voice of the class in school matters of concern to them.

Why don't we just call the whole thing off?

The Inter-Club Council is an organization made up of the heads of all of the clubs in Galesburg Senior High School. They meet frequently to discuss and make regulations for all of the different clubs. This way the regulations are the same for all organizations with no special privileges for any individual or for any club. They also discuss the problems common to all school leaders. Through these conferences they reach a better understanding of the students in the school as well as each other. The meetings of this group also serve to help coordinate the school activity schedule so that the club events will be spread out evenly throughout the entire year. Also the members of the Inter-Club Council work together on many all school projects. In most cases, the Inter-Club Council works closely with the Student Council on projects of importance to the whole student body. This is only the second year that the Council has been in existence, but already it is proving to be one of the most active and beneficial organizations in the school.

Lita's black hair, brown eyes and mischievous smile have become familiar to the students of the high school. This past year Galesburg High School sent one of its own students to Germany as an American Field Service Student. Roger Nelson spent the summer in Germany representing the USA. Roger spent his time with two different families, one in Calw, the other in Munich. He took many beautiful slides of this country that he is now showing to various organizations throughout the community. Roger was chosen as an AFS student on the basis of his intelligence, warm personality and his ability to leave a lasting impression on all people with whom he comes in contact.

The Reflector staff is made up of some of the most dedicated and hard working students in the school. These individuals, under the expert direction of the editor-in-chief, Barb Bronson, are faced with the responsibility of piecing together the Reflector in time to meet each deadline and of distributing it to the students. Members of the staff are faced with many difficult tasks. They sell advertisements to local firms who sponsor the individual pages. Later, the staff members are divided, according to interests and abilities, into smaller staffs where they aid in the actual assembly of the yearbook. The assembly of a yearbook as large as the Reflector involves the dedication of a great deal of time to the many intricate processes and small details which are of such vital importance. As an end result of all of this work, the Reflector which is produced is well worth all of the time, effort and headaches that went into its making.

We have to sell more ads!

Reflector meetings stir up wild enthusiasm.

Sophomores sell concessions

The sophomore members of the Reflector staff have many important duties. To become members of the staff, they must submit applications stating why they wish to work on the Reflector. From these applications, members are selected on the basis of enthusiasm and ability. In the fall, during football season, the sophomores work in the concession stands at the games. The proceeds are an important part of the financing of the Reflector. At a time of the year when everyone is busily working to organize the Reflectavue, the sophomores not only participate in the actual production, but also put up advertisements and sell tickets. Another common sight during the basketball season is the sophomores selling popcorn and cokes at the main hall concession stands. As you can see, the younger members of the Reflector staff are a vital part in the mechanism of this organization. From this group of eager sophomores will come the staff members and the editors for the coming years.

Art Club is a talented group

S. Ferguson, president; C. Alps, secretary; J. Pounds, vice-president

The 1966 Art Club is one of the most active groups around Galesburg High School. Under the direction of Mr. Crown, they fill the requests of many of the other organizations. They make posters advertising games, dances, and all sorts of social events. They make campaign posters for school elections. They even make signs for Reflector pictures. Art Club meetings are very noisy and very messy. Members are allowed to create whatever they want using almost any available material. Members of the Art Club represent some of the most talented students in the school. Examples of their work can be seen all over the school. The bulletin boards and display cases are full of art exhibits. Even the office has several interesting pieces on display. Art Club is certainly not all work and no play. Members have loads of fun working on projects. During the year they have many parties and take trips to observe other artists' works. The year is always climaxed by a fun-filled picnic. Art Club members perform a great service to the students and faculty.

Membership of Boys' Forum consists of a boy from each advisory in the school. Like GSL the Boys' Forum goal is membership of every boy in the school. Through this organization the boys are informed of activities and projects of special interest to them. The elected advisory representatives form the vital link between the administration and the male members of the student body. The Boys' Forum donates funds to the various projects being carried on by other GHS organizations. They donate the flocked Christmas tree that the GSL cabinet members decorate for the school. They also sponsor the soft drink machines that are so very popular with the students. The Boys' Forum truly benefits the student body.

Pep Club is another all school organization. Although each advisory elects a representative, membership is open to anyone who wants it. The purpose of this organization is to increase students' interest in GHS competitive sports. With purchase of a Pep Club membership card a student is allowed reduced rates on all buses to the out of town games and to the Pep Club after game dance. Pep Club works closely with many other GHS organizations to promote school spirit. Pep Club representatives help raise funds by selling Silver Streaks banners and pins. This business is really good during tournament time. Of course, those terribly noisy pep assemblies are planned and sponsored by the Pep Club. Another important duty of this group is to support the cheerleaders by helping the students learn the cheers.

Ok Miss Brock, take it!

At the beginning of each year, students are given the opportunity to buy a Student Activity Association card. This card entitles the student to admission and reserved seats at home basketball and football games. In this organization, a student representative is elected in each advisory to bring news of the Student Activity Association to the student body. An SAA card also entitles students to all editions of the Budget and a copy of the Reflector. Susi Brock and Mr. Lentz work hard to provide the school with interesting and educational assemblies. Budget staff compiles bi-monthly

Tom Aldrich
Editor-in-Chief

Every two weeks, seventh period class is interrupted by the arrival of the Budgets. Class work is forgotten as the students begin to catch up on the latest news. The Budget staff, under the excellent leadership of Tom Aldrich, has provided Galesburg High School with an accurate and up-to-date newspaper for many years. The compiling of a newspaper every two weeks involves a great deal of hard work. The wide variety of articles contained in the Budget makes it necessary for a large staff to labor for many hours. The Budget dedicates itself to bring school news to all members of the student body. Budget editorials are written on many controversial and provocative topics. From time to time, there is even a guest editorial. The sports page records the news of the latest Silver Streaks victory. Another interesting feature is the interview section. In this section, students are allowed to give their own opinions of amusing subjects. In order to finance the Budget, staff members sell ads to local businesses.

NHS stresses character, service

Membership in the National Honor Society is a goal for all serious minded students at GHS. Membership is limited to junior and senior students with a grade average of a "B" or above. Students must have also participated actively in extracurricular activities. The National Honor Society stresses moral standards as well as scholastic excellence. Only students who rate high in both areas are admitted to the society. The National Honor Society induction ceremony is a very beautiful and moving spectacle. Students who have been members of this honorary society for two years are clothed in white caps and gowns. Behind them march the small number of juniors that are to be inducted. Each year the two sophomores with the highest grade average are given the privilege of escorting the NHS members to their seats. During the induction the members are asked to repeat an oath dedicating themselves to character, scholarship, leadership and service. A banquet is held for the members and their parents. NHS pins are also available to the members.

Merit Winners

In March of each year members of the junior class take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests. Out of the large number of students who take the tests only a small percentage qualify as semi-finalists. Both Roger Nelson and Dale Moberg are still in the competition for these scholarships while many other Galesburg High School students received honorable mention. The final winners of the National Merit Scholarships are announced in the spring of each year. Congratulations are in order to both Roger and Dale for the high level of scholastic excellence which they have achieved.

Susan Doores

Ray Fritsch

DAR and SAR

Each year two Galesburg High School students receive awards for leadership, patriotism and scholarship. This year's winner of the Daughters of the American Revolution Citizenship Award is Susan Doores, and the winner of the Sons of the American Revolution Citizenship Award is Ray Fritsch. Both Susan and Ray take part in a wide variety of activities in the school. Award winners are selected by the GHS faculty on the basis of scholarship, patriotism, and leadership. Along with this award goes the responsibility of living up to the high ideals they symbolize.

Thespians signify the best

Membership in the Thespians is a goal for all Galesburg High School students seriously interested in dramatics. Thespians is a national honorary organization designed to give special recognition to high school students with unusual talent in dramatics. This includes singing, all types of speech, and, of course, acting. A student becomes a member of this organization by invitation only. Because of this fact the membership is kept very small. Any student who has been accepted as a Thespian has received a very high honor as well as a great responsibility. Members must stand for all of the best in dramatic excellence. The student body is continually aware of the high quality of talent represented by this organization in the forms of entertainment they produce.

An extremely large and well-known organization at Galesburg High is Stage Call. The members of Stage Call are students who have participated in or have actively helped to stage a performance. Membership of Stage Call is determined by a point system. Participants are awarded points for each job they do, and they are inducted into the organization when they have accumulated enough points. Each year they spend a day touring Chicago and climax it with a stage play in the evening. Students are not on this trip solely to observe techniques of famous actors and actresses. Among the club's other activities are the selling of student directories, sponsoring of an after game dance, and bake sales to raise funds. The year is climaxed by one of the largest and most elaborate banquets that are given at Galesburg High School during the year.

Another of the many competitive organizations at Galesburg High School is Debate. Unlike other clubs in the school, Debate involves a great deal of detailed study and hard work. Members are expected to accumulate a file of reference cards that is large enough to completely and accurately cover the topic under debate. They are able to take a controversial subject, state their opinions, and give proof to back up each argument. The two debate squads travel all over the state of Illinois to debate their topic. The goal of all high school debaters is a place in the state rating following the tournament rounds. Under the direction of the debate coach, Mr. Beck, students learn the valuable art of talking in front of large audiences. The students also have the opportunity to enter the other public speaking contests which emphasize extemporaneous speaking. In connection with the Debate Club, Mr. Beck offers a course in debate to a limited number of interested students. Both the debate course and the Debate Club are well worth the time and effort they require.

The members of the Pasteur Society form one of the most active and worthwhile organizations in the school. Their yearly program consists of a wide variety of activities. The Pasteur Society meetings are educational as well as fun. Many well known speakers entertain the students with talks about subjects of special interest. Members work on special projects and submit their efforts to the science fair with hopes of winning awards. The students also lend their support to the Elroy Smith Science Award. In this organization the members are encouraged to question and to find answers. One of the highlights of the year for Pasteur Society members is the field trip. At this time the students retreat to a secluded area and study nature.

The Girls Service League is one of the most active organizations in the school. Membership is open to all girls who wish to join. Each advisory sends a representative to the cabinet meetings so that news of current activities can be passed on to everyone as rapidly as possible. The GSL year is begun with a style show introducing the new students to proper attire for school and for social events. GSL sponsors the Pigskin Prance, which is the first after-game dance of the season. Through GSL the students of Galesburg High School sponsor the education of a Korean girl, Ki Myung. Girls are invited to participate in the decorating of the flocked Christmas tree and the packaging of homemade cookies for the nursing homes. Work begins in February for the GSL banquet which is held in May. Over a hundred girls serve on the different planning committees. The GSL banquet is a beautiful and exciting highlight for the year's activities.

The Future Teachers of America enjoy an educational as well as interesting variety of activities during the year. During the Christmas season FTA held a large party to which the members brought their own box suppers. The plans for the year include several parties and picnics. The annual FTA banquet is a gayly decorated and fun-filled social event that is enjoyed by all who attend it. Many well known educators are invited to attend the meetings and advise the members in matters concerning the teaching profession.

How does it taste?

Latin Club members form one of the school's busiest organizations. Membership is, of course, limited to students of Latin. They even have a typical Roman slate of officers complete with a Caesar and a Calpurnia. The Latin Club after-game dance is a much anticipated annual event. At this time, Caesar is carried in by slaves and also receives a shower of flowers from his subjects. In the spring of each year the Latin Club holds a large banquet as do many other school organizations. Romans recline and eat their food in the typical fashion, with their fingers! First year students, the slaves, wait on the patricians. The highlight of the evening is the program in which each class presents a Roman skit which usually depicts modern situations as they would have appeared in the time of Caesar.

Latin Loop-de-Loop is a success.

German Club members are in for another great year. Under the direction of this year's president, Kathleen Chambers, and of the sponsors, Miss Lindahl and Mr. Reuter, the German Club has planned an interesting program. Speakers who have visited Germany are often invited to attend the meetings and to talk and show slides of this country. Club gatherings are designed to be educational as well as enjoyable so that the students will truly benefit from membership in this organization. This year's German Club after-game dance, the Fräulein Frolic, was a huge success among Galesburg High School students. A newly added attraction for German Club members is the spring German banquet. It is the hope of the students that this will become a tradition at Galesburg High School. As in the other language organizations, membership is restricted to students who study the given language.

The progressive dinner is becoming an annual event for members of the French Club. This year the dinner was held a few days before the Christmas holidays. It was complete down to the last detail with a wide variety of delicious foods and even a Santa Claus who spoke French. The club meetings of this organization often center around interesting guest speakers. Slides and pictures which accompany these lectures are enjoyed by all who attend. The French Club after-game dance to celebrate the Streaks' spectacular victory over Rock Island was appropriately titled Rock Island on the Rocks. This organization of students of the French language is again sponsored by Miss Lindahl and Mr. Turner. Together with this year's president, Tami Curtis, they are attempting to make French Club an interesting and enjoyable experience for all of the students who participate in this activity.

Spanish Club enjoys fiesta

The Spanish Club members are an alert and fun loving group. They offer many educational and entertaining activities to students of Spanish. In the fall of each year they have a fiesta in which only spanish food is served. During the Christmas holidays they carol for the hospitals and nursing homes. The Spanish Club after-game dance is another activity eagerly anticipated by all students. Also during the course of the year, they are given opportunities to hear talks and to see slides of the Spanish speaking countries. One of the main goals of the Spanish Club members is to be admitted into the Spanish National Honor Society. Only students with special interests in the field and high grades are admitted into SNHS.

FHA gives Christmas tea

Coffee, tea or milk?

FHA is a service organization in every sense of the word. Members of the Future Homemakers of America are called upon to help plan refreshments for all of the major dances as well as for the GSL tea. These girls who are skilled in menu planning often suggest tasty and nutritious snacks for after school meetings. During the holiday season the Future Homemakers present the hospitals with hand made favors for the trays of the patients. They also give a tea for the students, the faculty and the public a few days before school is out for Christmas vacation. The Sweetheart Swirl, the year's only turnabout dance, is one of the main projects of the Future Homemakers of America. This spring dance is a favorite of all girls.

The Future Farmers of America organization is an intra-curricular part of the agriculture program. FFA offers many activities to agriculturally-minded boys. Each year they hold a parent and son banquet which is eagerly anticipated by all concerned. Another highlight of the year is the all day field trip which members of the organization take to observe new and effective farming methods. The boys are encouraged to participate in the various stock judging contests. These contests, which are held at the University of Illinois, give the boys the opportunity to become acquainted with the state school. The Future Farmers of America sends delegates to the State and National Agricultural Conventions and also participates in the public speaking events. Unlike many other organizations the Future Farmers of America are seriously studying in this field. It is not an organization for fun only. The boys are learning the business that will become their life's work.

The unsung heroes of GHS

Some of the unsung heroes of Galesburg Senior High School are the members of the visual aids department. They are continually scurrying through the halls to transport projectors and to deliver films. They are called upon for all types of emergencies imaginable. They also provide classrooms with records relating to the material that is being studied.

Girls give directions of games and books

During the basketball season the Usherettes provide a great service to the public. They are strategically stationed throughout the entire gym area to direct spectators to their seats. The Usherettes are members of the junior and senior leadership classes who are willing to donate their time to help the townspeople of Galesburg. The girls rotate the nights in which they usher so each girl may have her chance to act as a spectator. Each girl is assigned to a specific part of the gym area so that she may become well acquainted with seating arrangement. The Usherettes are the pretty girls in the bright gold vests that stand eager and willing to give aid to confused newcomers to Galesburg High's Silver Streaks basketball games.

The students of Galesburg Senior High School owe a great debt to the librarians. The members of this dedicated group donate their study hall periods to help Mr. Flickinger in the library. Their duties are many and varied. The primary duty of the librarians is to handle the check-out desk. They check on library numbers and assign numbers to those students who do not already have them. The librarians are kept busy straightening and shelving the books. Part of their duties include numbering and checking the new books to be put on the shelves. They keep track of the many periodicals that are on display in the center of the room itself. Members of this group take a special course in library science before they are allowed to begin actual work in the library. Thus a trained librarian is on hand at all times to help the student body.

In each chemistry class there are two seniors who act as lab assistants. They are selected from the previous year's chemistry students on the basis of interest and ability. During lecture sessions they help take attendance, but during lab periods their work really begins. It is their duty to help students with their experimentation and keep the students continually aware of the necessity for safety precautions. The lab assistants perform many services that are of great help to the teachers. They help mix the many solutions needed in this type of course and also measure and weigh some of the solids. The lab assistants keep the chemical flasks and the distilled water bottles full. The hard working lab assistants are a great help to students and teachers alike.

Part of the efficiency of the office work of GHS is a result of the work of the student monitors. These students give up their study halls to devote themselves to helping the members of the office staff and the administration. Monitors are continually on duty answering telephone calls and collecting attendance slips. However, their duties do not end here. Monitors help to check on tardies and absences as well as run all necessary errands. These students willingly act as guides to all visitors and offer their services to all who need assistance.

The Senior Leaders are a group of senior girls who have participated in a year of detailed study so that they may assist the teachers in the instruction of gym classes. In their junior year, the girls attend a special class that emphasizes the rules of the important sports. The Senior Leaders have many duties. They lead all of the regular gym classes in their daily exercises. In the actual sports events, the Senior Leaders act as officials. However, they are required to take the same tests as the other classes. The Senior Leaders, the girls in the green shorts and white blouses, are often seen helping girls improve their athletic skills. Every few weeks, the Senior Leaders rotate classes so they may become acquainted with students in all classes and with the sports particular to each section. The Senior Leaders are representative of the most athletically skilled girls in Galesburg High School.

Let's drop it and try again!

To kick off every year the Girls Athletic Association holds a fun night that is restricted to girls only. At this party, sophomore and new girls are introduced to this organization. The purpose of GAA is to give girls an opportunity to participate in competitive sports outside of formal gym classes. GAA functions on a point system. The girls attend and participate in the sports events as well as help with other related projects in order to win enough points to merit awards. A girl need not be unusually athletic to join GAA. She need only have enthusiasm and an interest in sports. This organization offers a wide variety of activities throughout the entire school year. GAA girls participate in outdoor sports as long as the weather permits and then move indoors for winter activities. Basketball and volleyball are among the favorites of the members. The Girls Athletic Association provides the female half of the GHS student body with an enjoyable means of recreation and also with a chance to become better acquainted with other girls.

Boys learn sportsmanship

This year's boys intramural program, headed by Mr. Fish, physical education instructor here at the high school, achieved its greatest success during the winter months with the basketball tourney. The sports program, one of the most enjoyable and invaluable extracurricular activities available at GHS, offers opportunity for spirited and enjoyable athletic competition and is a welcome antidote to classroom fatigue. Fall tournaments in archery, table-tennis, and golf achieved a high degree of participation. Winter basketball tournaments, organized and carried out to a successful conclusion, preceded handball, badminton, and volleyball as spring activities. Appreciation is extended to Mr. Fish, Mr. Young, and student assistant Dave Litvin for their enthusiasm and dedication to the further enjoyment of high school days.

Keen competition brings out the best sportsmanship in all of us.

Bottoms up!

The Streakettes are the female gymnastics team of Galesburg Senior High School. Their performances are eagerly anticipated by people in the surrounding area. They perform for many different organizations throughout the state. During half time of several basketball games they go through their graceful routines for the entertainment of both students and adults. The Streakettes' act in the Reflectavue, Motion in Blue, was a good example of the precision work that they do. This act consists of a series of gymnastic stunts set to music. Under the direction of Mrs. Rosine these girls practice long and hard to reach the perfection that they desire. Not only does an activity of this sort require skill and coordination, it also necessitates strict discipline and cooperation from the girls. The Streakettes are another of the athletic organizations of which the students and the faculty of Galesburg High School are exceedingly proud.

During seventh hour study periods the main hall can be seen filled with girls going through intricate routines. These girls make up the two performing squads known as the Majorettes and the Pom Pom Girls. Both groups of girls often perform at basketball and football games. During the football season both the Majorettes and Pom Pom Girls, together with the band, provide the half time entertainment. They march around the field following difficult and detailed patterns that they have practiced for many weeks. They also march down the aisles during pep assemblies to lend their enthusiastic support to the teams. The Majorettes in their sparkling blue outfits add the feminine touch to the masculine sports. The head Majorette, Judy Shay, leads the girls in their beautifully timed routines. The Pom Pom Girls in their cute white outfits carry the traditional gold and white pom poms. Both of these groups are highly trained so that they may provide the students with the best entertainment possible.

Chaos backstage before A Cappella practice

Only sixteen members of the World's Fair A Cappella Choir are returning this year, but the choir continues to be as great as ever. The A Cappella Choir sings for all types of community events. For the Reflectavue, the choir sang a medley of songs from The Fantasticks, which was a popular production in New York during the World's Fair. The singing of carols from the tops of the benches of the Burlington Depot during the Christmas party will never be forgotten by Mr. Hegg, the choir members or by the surprised people departing on vacations. The highlight of the annual Christmas Concert is the singing of the Song of Christmas, which is one of the most beautiful collections of sacred music ever assembled.

The Concert Choir turns hillbilly for Another group of Galesburg High School students who are especially talented in the field of music are the members of the Concert Choir. Taught as a credit course, the Concert Choir offers students the valuable musical training that may later help them advance to the A Cappella Choir or to one of the ensembles. To become members of this choir the students must first try out, after which they are selected on the basis of musical talent and ability. The Concert Choir plays an important part in the Christmas Concert and the Reflectavue. Their Reflectavue act, Barefoot, was a rollicking, fun-filled, hillbilly number. The Concert Choir also participates in several all-school assemblies during the year. The performances of the Concert Choir are a welcome addition to the School's social calendar.

Mr. Hegg directs Glee Club practice.

The Girls' Glee Club is made up of a group of sophomore girls who have a special interest in music. As freshmen they were given the opportunity to try out for this group if they so desired. Girls' Glee Club is a credit course, not merely an activity. These girls are given the chance to study and also to learn to appreciate many types of music. While members of this group perform occasionally for the student body and for the public, their primary goal is to learn the fundamentals of music. Under the direction of Mr. Hegg, these girls strive for the perfection necessary to become members of the other choirs. Not only have they participated in the Christmas Concert, but also have added their enthusiasm to other musical productions.

I think you goofed!

Galesburg High School is lucky enough to have three excellent singing groups to her credit. The first of these is made up of eight pretty senior girls. The Girls' Octet is a favorite of a great many local organizations. As the "Medicare Maids" in the Reflectavue, they were a hilarious success. These girls are often seen attired in bright green dresses preparing for a community performance. The male answer to this group is, naturally, the Boys' Octet. This group also performs for many school and community activities. They provided intermission entertainment for several events including the Winter Formal. The Boys' Octet members are well known for the "original" hula that they did for the Reflectavue. Twelve junior girls also get into the act with the Junior Girls' Ensemble. These girls performed in the Reflectavue and entertained many different groups. The members of the Girls' Ensemble are easily distinguished by their winter white dresses with the soft green accessories.

Orchestra works to improve skills

One of the more serious-minded groups of musicians around Galesburg High School is the Orchestra. A great deal of dedication is required of the students to master the difficult types of music in which they specialize. With the help of Mr. Donald the members work to improve their individual techniques. On January 18, the entire Orchestra went to Chicago to hear the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the direction of guest director Andre Previn. They also were hosts of the Eighteenth Annual Mississippi Valley Orchestra Festival in March. Orchestra members from several other schools participated in a concert which was held in the evening, following a day of rough practices. Each year the members also participate in several music contests. While members of the student body are given the opportunity of hearing the Orchestra only a few times each year, the performances are always well received by the many local audiences for which they play during the year.

That was a sour one!

An organization which is only in its second year at GHS is the Stage Band. Under the direction of Mr. Donald, this group practices many hours to provide the public with the music they enjoy. This group, which is better known to the student body as the Silver Chords, is famous for its music with a "beat." All of the back-up music for the Reflectavue is the work of the Silver Chords. From songs that "swing," such as Alley Cat, to the beautiful and tuneful medley of songs from The Fantasticks, the Stage Band provides the enjoyable music that is a vital part of any Reflectavue. The Silver Chords also play for several civic events during the year. For an organization which is still comparatively new, the Silver Chords are making quite a name for themselves around the school and the community.

Band adds pep and enthusiasm

Sports fans will never forget the rousing music at all home football and basketball games that is provided by the Band. With Mr. Donald directing they have led the crowd in the National Anthem, the school song, and in many of the pre-game cheers. During the football season the members of the Band are often seen practicing for precision marching during the half times. The Band also adds the "mood" music that lends to the success of the pep assemblies. The Band contributes a great deal to the enthusiasm and school spirit of the student body. Another organization which performs at the football games is the Flag Twirlers. These girls contributed an excellent example of precision movement to this year's Reflectavue. Their dance with the glowing costumes is a novel addition to the show.

Enthusiasm

GHS second baseman Dale Kelley races across the plate with another run.

GHS' 1965 baseball team holds a place of its own in the memory books of high school sports. The squad, 63 members strong in March, showed evident signs of championship form; hitting, speed, defense, poise, and team unity rapidly developed. Galesburg, under the helm of Head Coach Trulock and Mr. Moore, concluded the season with a 12-0 mark, seven of those on shutout conquests. GHS copped first place as well in the Illini Conference race. The Streaks rolled over early tourney competition, then hammered Northwestern Sciota, 11-1, before falling to Peoria Manual, 2-0, in the sectional finals. Mike Davis, shortstop converted pitcher, set a school record, striking out 18 Moline Maroons. Dale Kelley, Streak second baseman, led the offense with a .468 batting average. Congratulations to the entire squad on a mighty fine season.

GHS Linksters take 10th at State

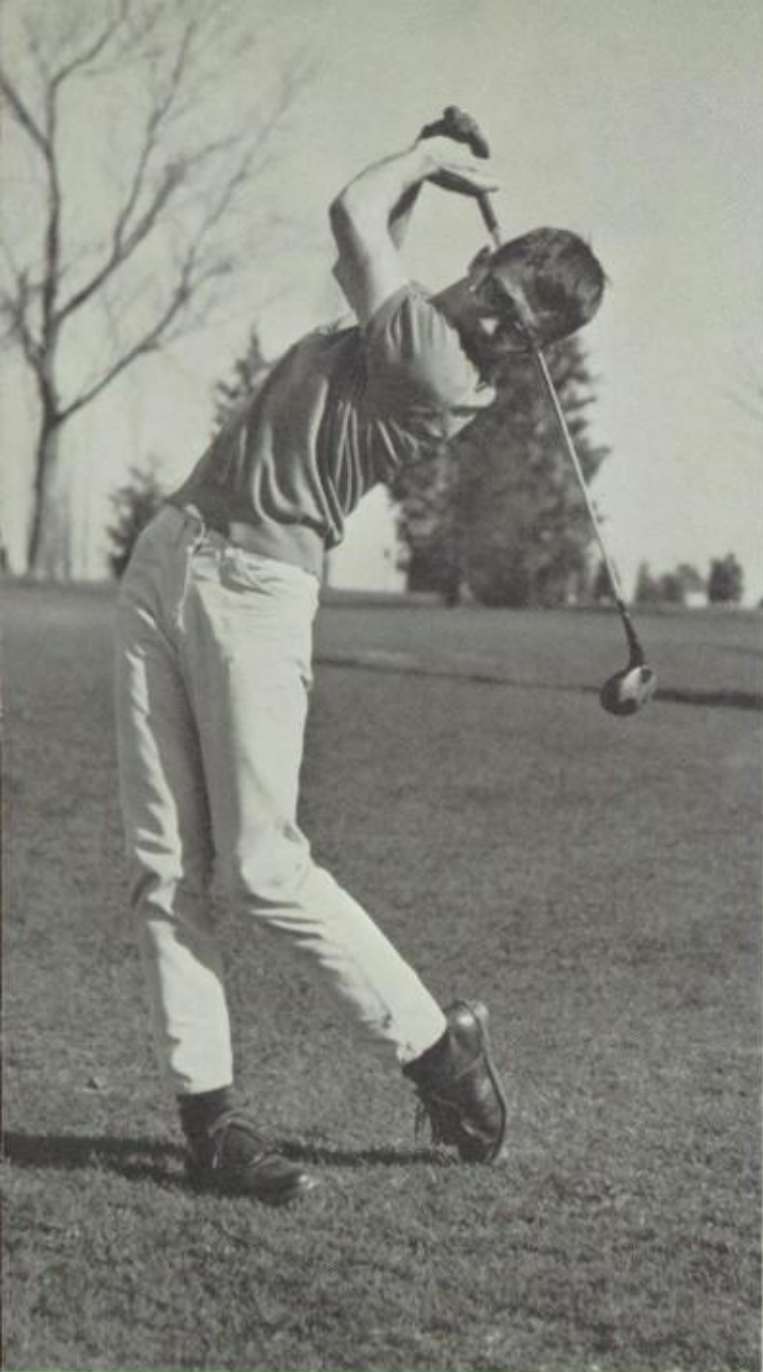

In front: B. Nelson, S. Johnson, D. Lundstrom, G. Burgland, T. Hicks, R. Marshall, R. Weaver, M. Davison, M. Nelson, M. Harshbarger, and A. Stevens.

The linksters of Coach Robert Self returned to interscholastic activity for the first time since 1963, when the Silver and Gold captured first place at the state finals. The fourteen team members put in long hours on the local golf courses, with the results convincing. The Streaks compiled an 11-2-1 season record, finishing third in the Illini Conference Meet; GHS trailed first place Richwoods by only five strokes. In state competition, Galesburg, vying for that coveted title, defeated Moline to win the rugged Quad-Cities district. The Silver and Gold finished a solid tenth at Champaign, twenty-five strokes behind first place Bloomington. Individually, Dave Lundstrom tied for eighth with a 36-hole total 159. At the North West Conference Invitational, the "putters" parred-out a disappointing second, two shots behind Kewanee. GHS' "B" team compiled a 5-1 season record.

Weather proved to be an unwelcome nemesis to Coach Van Dyke's track and field unit. The squad's first two meets were called off because of adverse weather conditions and practice until mid-April was rather restricted. None the less, the seventy-five GHSers who comprised the squad worked earnestly throughout to help bring Galesburg High School one of its better track records in recent history. With a nucleus of fifteen returning lettermen, the cindersmen had many distinct advantages—meet experience being a major factor. The Streaks walloped Canton and Monmouth in the Monmouth triangular, then captured top honors in the Monmouth relays, Illini Conference, and Northwest Conference meets. In tournament competition, GHS trounced Havana in the district, 55–29. Galesburg sent a number of individuals to the state finals, with senior Martin DeWitt leaping to a fifth in the broad jump. Pete Paisley set a school record, running the 100-yard dash in ten seconds. The sophomores garnered third in the Illini with a first place Monmouth triangular showing.

The cinders fly back as sparks and Streak Senior Peter Paisley is off to another sprint record and victory.

Streak harriers finish at 9-1-0

Calisthenics, running, endless time-trials, and more calisthenics . . . the work is hard, but if you can master it and overcome the blockades to fitness, self-confidence and victory are the conclusive results. This year's cross country team, seventeen brave Streaks coached by Mr. Gunderson, concluded the regular season with a 9-1-0 record and a third place finish, behind Pekin and Richwoods, in the Illini Conference Meet. Galesburg's most impressive win was a 24½-30½ triumph over the then undefeated Pekin Chinks, followed by a 19-38 conquest of Woodruff. The Streaks finished first in the Northwest Conference Meet, swamping Geneseo, 17-61, and captured top honors in the Farmington-Canton-Galesburg cross country triangular. In tournament play, GHS placed a high 3rd at the Moline district, downstate's roughest. Juniors Bill Dickerson and Tom Peterson, and senior Bill Crouse led the GHS unit.

Sophomore Pete Christianson holds a two step lead in varsity competition against Kewanee.

The immediate future for Silver Streak football looks great and the sophomore and "B" teams make it so. While the headlines and newspaper clippings are not nearly so glamorous, these boys work just as hard and with as much determination and finesse as the varsity and have improved greatly. The sophomores compiled a 6-1 season record, four of those victories coming on occasions when the opposition was shut out. The sophomores' lone defeat was a 27-7 setback at the hand of a rugged, much bigger Burlington ball club. Coach Johns' "Ponies" averaged over 23.4 points per game, while limiting the competition to seven. The junior varsity, under the helm of coach Lundeen and coach Wallace, rolled past Richwoods and Central, losing only to Quad City powerhouse, Moline. Experience on the junior varsity has frequently been a key factor in many a player's development.

Junior fullback Cato bulls through the faltering Chink forward wall as a host of Pekin defenders give chase.

The cumbersome protective padding, coupled with almost unbearable summer heat, scared a number of gridiron hopefuls, but the strong and determined stayed around to give Coach Van Dyke's Silver Streaks a successful 5-4 season. With only eight returning lettermen, GHS relied heavily on underclass potential and the sophomores and juniors rose to the occasion. Following a loss to Richwoods, the Silver and Gold racked up three impressive victories against Woodruff, Canton, and East Peoria. Lacking size and experience, Galesburg battled Quincy to the gun, bowing, 18-13, but concluded with victories over Kewanee and Danville. Clutch performances from sophomore Dave Nichols and juniors Jerry Cato and Gary Johnson make optimism for 1967 seem rather conservative.

Galesburg Senior High School's 1965-66 wrestling squad, under the guidance of Coach Wallace, compiled an impressive 8-4 season record in developing some of the state's finest high school wrestlers. The Silver and Gold's only losses were at the hands of Pekin, Richwoods, Moline, and East Moline. GHS grapplers, though third in the Illini Conference, captured first place in the Northwest Conference meet and in district competition, sending seniors Larry Woodson and Pete Paisley to the finals. Woodson, a 127-lb. senior transfer from Oklahoma, placed fourth at the Evanston finals. while little Roland McDougald protects Bobby from the defense.

Dale Kelley hits for two against the Senators.

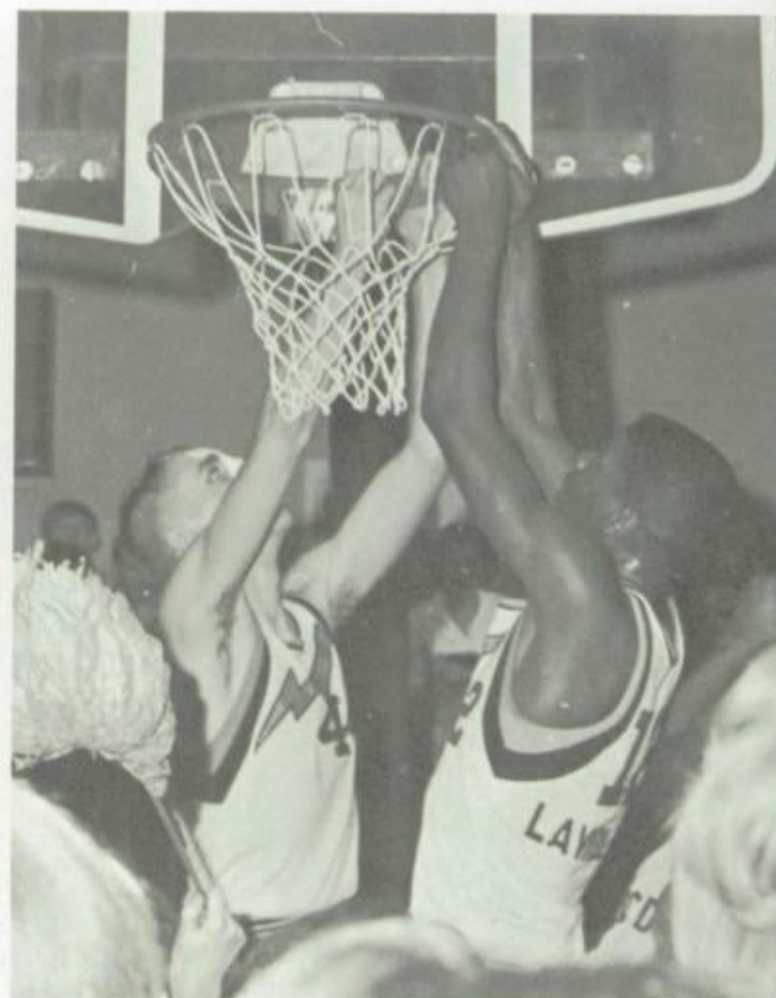

The 1965-66 Varsity basketball season was indeed an amazing one. From early October Coach Thiel and his assistants knew of the untapped potential and in late February the rewards of determination, dedication, and stamina began to fulfill themselves. Galesburg's mighty Silver Streaks roared through their first six contests undefeated and a victor over Pekin's Chinks, 80-76. Marshall of Chicago and Quincy dampened the holidays, stinging the Streaks with their only losses. Not being superstitious, Galesburg reeled off 13 successive victories to conclude the season at 19-2. Many memories pervade those nineteen wins: GHS walloped East Peoria, 109-68, scoring 57 points the first half; Dale Kelley rammed 52 points through the nets against Rock Island, sinking twenty free throws in that many attempts; and Coach John Thiel's charges "upset" second-ranked Moline, 73-70, at Moline, then rolled past East Moline, 90-76. The Silver and Gold ran up eighty or more points in eleven of those contests; the opposition scored eighty just once, as in the season finale, GHS, with a 54 point outburst from its two great guards, turned back a fine Washington ball club, 86-81. At 19-2, it seemed time to quit; but, then, there was the state tournament . . . Bushnell-Prairie City was the first stop.

Barry Swanson nets two points for GHS as Galesburg's Dale Kelley and Pekin's Fred Miller (43) observe the action.

Coach Thiel offers some important advice during semi-final action in the Assembly Hall.

Barry Swanson and Bruce LaViolette pull down the "victory nets" after Galesburg's 78-66 Regional win.

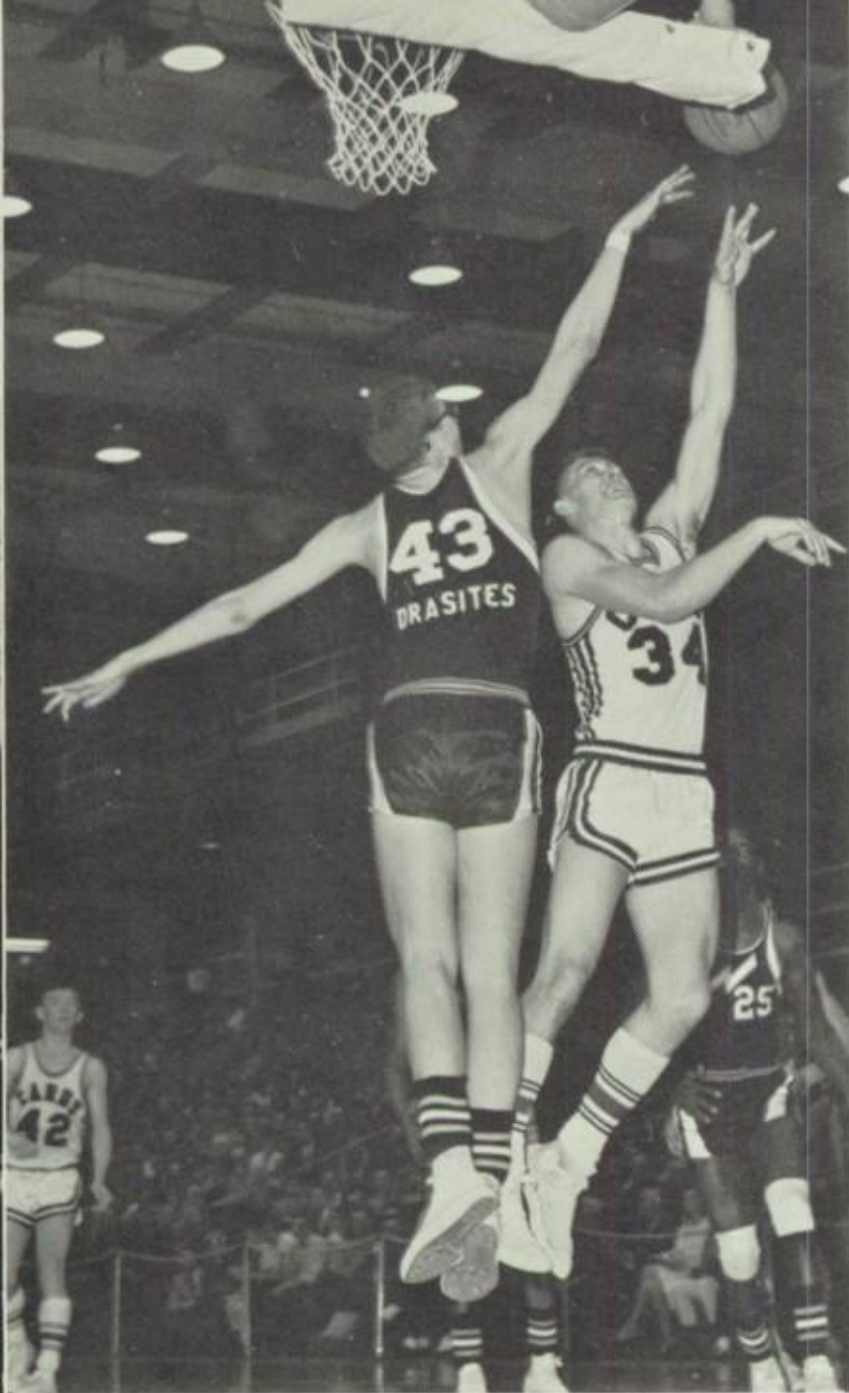

Fantastic Silver Streaks, 27-3,

It began in February at Bushnell. They said we couldn't do it this year; uh-huh! The Streaks bombed Macomb 107-59, unzipped Monmouth, 108-66, and captured their twelfth straight regional crown, dumping Costa, 78-66. "We Want Quincy!" We got them, 61-49, in the best team effort ever by a Silver Streak unit. Hamilton fell nicely, 65-45, and we faced a forest. Springfield's Senators lined up at 6-7, 6-6, and a 6-5, 250 pound thing. Our Streaks mowed them down; the offense was great and our defense kept Springfield outside. The Streaks won that cliffhanger, 69-65. At Champaign, mighty Galesburg stole the show. Benton's Rangers, undefeated and number one, succumbed 73-71; Saturday Belleville, wracked by Dale Kelley's 37 points, fell, 65-64, and we just about beat a mighty Thornton team! No kiddin', though, we were great! The trophy says number two, but in our hearts, man, you're ALWAYS number one!

Competition, experience, dedication, and stamina make men out of boys and 1965-1966's Silver Streak "B" team worked quite successfully to that end. The junior varsity, coached by Mr. Beal, in his first year at the high school, compiled an amazing 13-4 record, while operating with an ever-changing unit week after week. Galesburg's varsity reserves earned several impressive wins, including an 85-61 "shellacking" of Peoria Manual and a 77-75 squeaker over a big Rock Island quintet.

The delusions of a 14-7 season's record certainly must be overshadowed by the developing basketball potential which will be on display in the 1966-1967 campaign. This year's sophomores, guided by Coach Johns, played in "streaks" of perfection and mediocrity throughout the year, but showed a polish and finesse that fifteen-year-old boys should never have. GHS' Ponies garnered impressive wins over such roundball stalwarts as Quincy, Rock Island, East Moline, and Washington. Congratulations to a fine team.

Managers behind GHS victory

The credit usually doesn't come and the work is harder than most people realize. This year's managers, a most integral part of the GHS athletic department, worked throughout the year making sure the equipment for each sport was in shape, counting towels, keeping score, packing equipment, and taping injuries. Under the guidance of Mr. Earl Crabtree, these ten boys provided the organization and know-how to keep Galesburg's high-flying Silver Streaks looking their very best. Each of the boys devote study halls and after school hours to arrange necessities for GHS's athletic encounters. Congratulations to Mr. Bednar, Mr. Crabtree, and the boys for a job well done. Though seldom said, "Boys, we appreciate it!"

Senior manager, Randy Munson, packs equipment for Varsity.

J. V. vital link to varsity

From top to bottom: Susie Shifley, Sue Norris, Barb Hund, Connie Chapman, Kendra Mudd.

While the Junior Varsity cheerleaders are not as well known as the other two cheering squads they are equally talented and enthusiastic. Since their games are not connected with those of the Varsity, they have far less connection with the general public. They take an active part in the pep assemblies and also participate in all school events connected with sports. These five bouncy junior girls have a completely individual style that they have developed through many hours of practice and experimentation. The year that they spend as Junior Varsity cheerleaders will provide the experience that is a vital link toward becoming a member of the Varsity cheering squad.

Time out for some constructive criticism.

"Get that ball!" cheer Paula Pico and Patsy McCullough during a Pony game.

Ponies cheer at Soph. games

Perhaps the liveliest group of sophomore girls at Galesburg High School form the Pony cheerleading squad. Their overwhelming pep and enthusiasm contribute greatly to the following of the sophomore team. They take many of the old familiar cheers and liven up the cadence to meet modern standards. The sophomore cheerleaders combine with the other two squads to put on the ever popular pep assemblies. At this time they are given the opportunity to teach students the new and also the revised cheers. Like the other squads they devote seventh hour study halls to practice sessions. These are usually filled with suggestions of new ideas and constructive criticism. Following the games at which they cheer they return to the stands to aid the Varsity cheerleaders for the remainder of the evening. The entire Pony cheerleading squad is working hard to attain the perfection which they hope will entitle them to a position on the Varsity cheering squad.

Galesburg High School is the proud home of the State Championship cheerleaders! The squad of four senior girls and one junior is coached by Mrs. Rosine. Many hours are devoted during and after school to the practice of precision movements for which they strive. Several days a week, during seventh hour study halls the halls are full of cheerleaders going through their routines. The varsity cheerleaders lead yells at all football and basketball games. These cute and peppy girls deserve the credit for most of the school's sportsmanship and enthusiasm. It takes a great deal of courage for the girls to be happy and bouncy under all types of conditions. At the state tournament in Champaign they were judged the very best that the state of Illinois has to offer. Pictures of the Varsity cheerleading squad appeared in papers around the state and they were also given a personal interview on television. The enthusiasm, pep, and refreshing appearances of the Varsity cheerleaders are a credit to the school and also to the state of Illinois.

Rub-a-dub-dub two seniors in a tub.

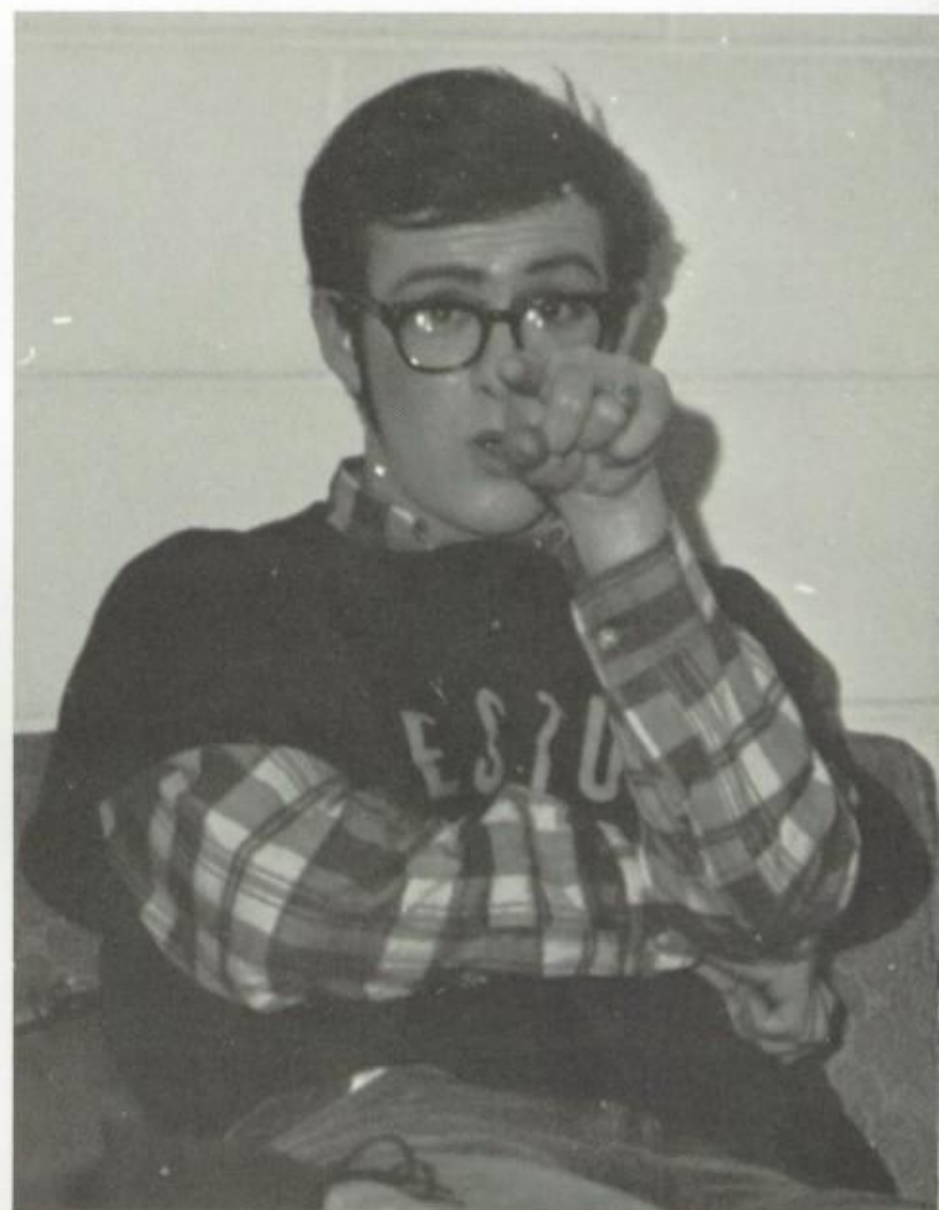

George,

Seniors are not all work and no play

Budgets have many uses.

Uncle Sam wants you!

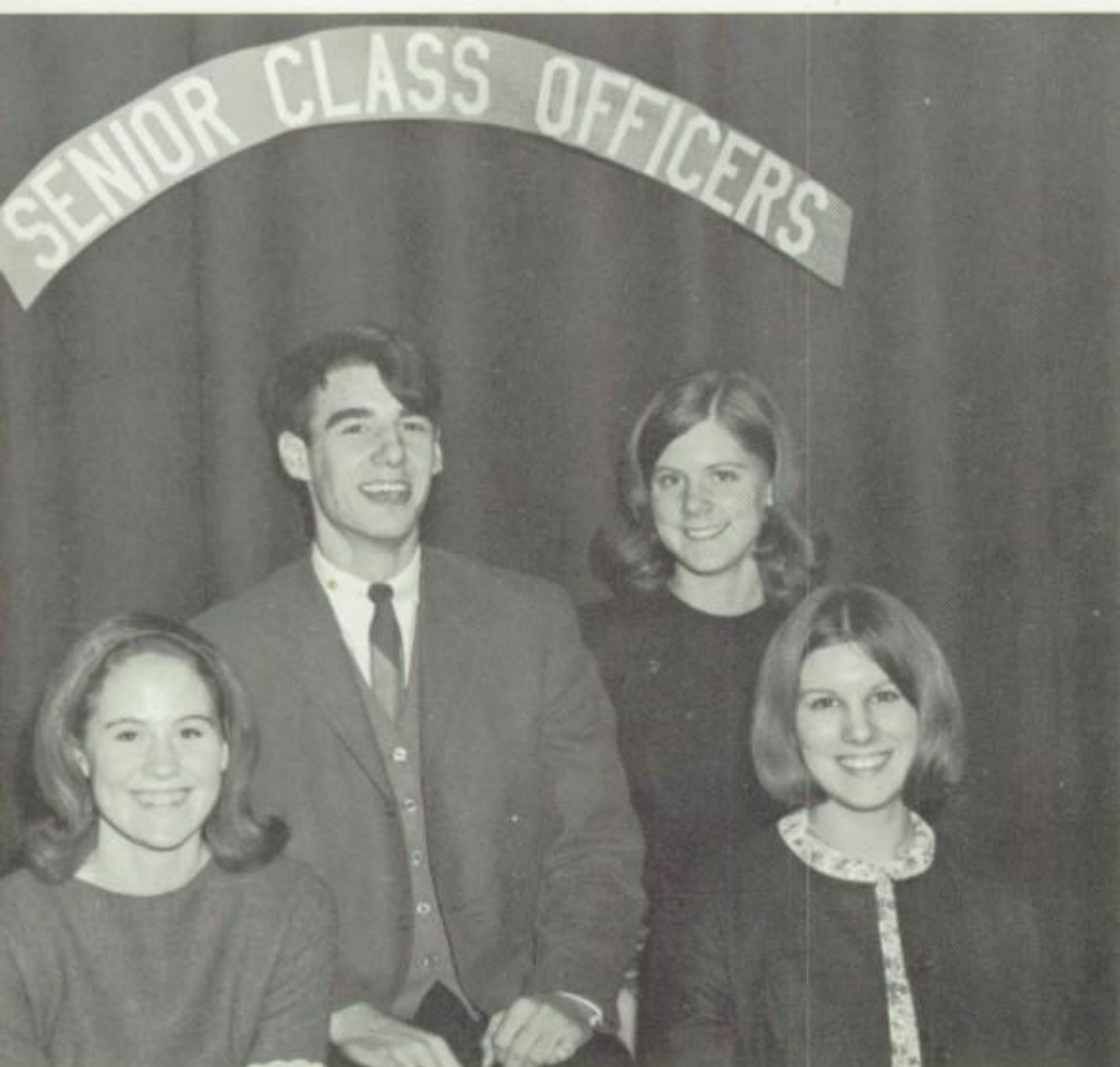

help me!

Larry Woodson finds a new way to cross the country.

This is the year of the class of 1966! In August, a group of seniors took over the student offices vacated by the previous class. This began an eventful year for the class of '66. Few students will forget the time the senior class Homecoming float won first place. This was a beautiful, but sad Homecoming for the seniors because it was their last at GHS. They will look back and remember the friends and teachers that made their years at GHS so enjoyable. They can not help but remember the fun nights and after game dances they attended as well as the glorious time the Silver Streaks basketball team defeated Pekin. Who will ever forget the uncoordinated senior girls known as PROONS. Well, the year is almost over now, but they will have these TIMES TO REMEMBER.

In gratitude. . . .

The 1966 Reflector is now completed, after a long year of hard work on the part of many people, and the Reflector now belongs to the students of Galesburg Senior High; it is a record of people, places and happenings during our 1966 school year. Although there are more people than is ever possible to mention for their much appreciated help, I would like to extend a personal thank you to our advisor, Mr. Kenney, for his always available, never ending help, advice and patience; to the well overworked editorial staff for their hard work and stick-to-itiveness; to Henry Wong for his beautifully executed cover and division pages; to the junior and senior staff members for their patient cooperation; to the sophomore staff members for their fearless selling of concessions at football and basketball games; to Gregg Blankenship, Gary Levinson and Tim Courtney for making it possible to present the pictorial coverage of the '65-'66 school year; to Holcomb Studio for the much appreciated senior portrait and club pictures; to Mr. Hegg, Mr. Krause, Mrs. Hurst and Mrs. Kenney for putting on one of the best Reflectavues we've ever experienced, to help finance our yearbook; and to Mr. Lass and Wagoner Printing Co. for their quiet headaches, advice and assistance. I would also like to extend my grateful thanks to Becca Szerlong and Jan Gehring for a wonderful year of hard work, patience, help and forbearance. I couldn't have made it without them. It was a rough year and at times we wondered if those sixteen pages could get any longer, but through it all I know that we on the Reflector staff would never exchange our feeling of great pride in presenting this 1966 Reflector to you, the student body, with all our hopes that you can experience the joys we had in putting it together for you. Thank you again for your loyal support and never ending attention, and the best of luck and "strength" to next year's staff.

We hope you will always have these "Times to Remember."
